Conclusion

Type 2 diabetes and obesity have complex and multifaceted causes and therefore require a multidisciplinary approach to their management.

Multidisciplinary weight management programs have proven to be effective in improving glycemic control and to maintain weight loss. Programs should integrate nutrition therapy, exercise intervention, medication adjustments, and behavioral support.

Mobile health applications can facilitate greater accessibility and scalability of weight management programs

Bariatric surgery in combination with lifestyle management may be considered for patients who are unable to achieve weight reduction goals through intensive lifestyle intervention alone.

Guest Lecture

Date : 05/08/2023

Speaker Dr. Harshe Psychiatrist at D.Y. Patil University, Kolhapur

Topic – Interpersonal Relationship.

By the Dept. of Anatomy, an online guest lecture was organized for the students of I MBBS. On 5th August 17, 2023 at 12 to 1 pm.

The speaker was Dr. Harshe who is psychiatrist & working as Associate Professor in D.Y. Patil University, Kolhapur. His topic was very interesting – Interpersonal Relationship.

Dr. Pradnya Kulkarni, Professor of Department of Anatomy & also Organizing Secretary welcomed Dr. Harshe. She also gave short introduction of Dr. Harshe.

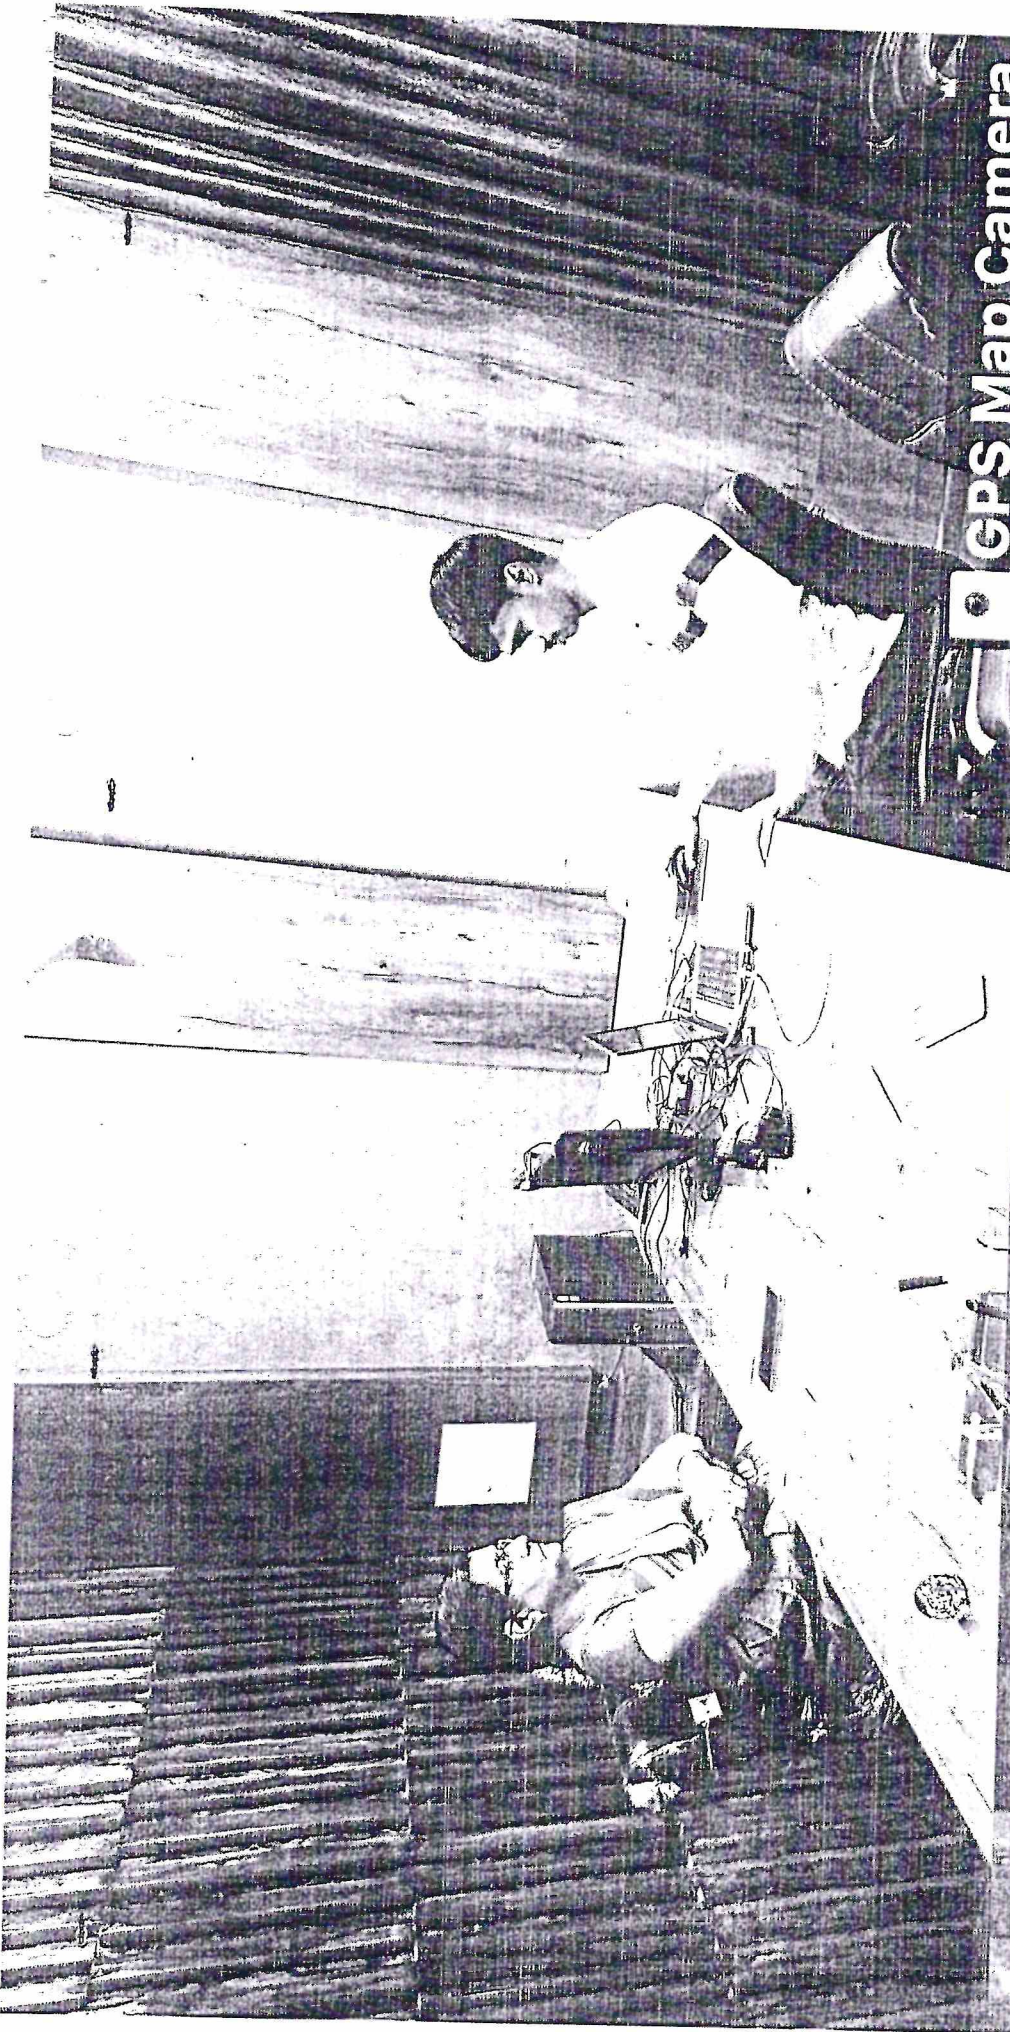

Dr. Harshe talked in Marathi as he came to know that most of the students are Maharashtrian. He introduced his topic very clearly - how to maintain the interpersonal relationships, what are the different factors which can make them worst & how it can be avoided. As a doctor it is very important to maintain these various interpersonal relationships and one should not intermingle the various roles of a doctor in his life.

A very knowledgeable lecture conducted by Dr. Harshe.

At the end of the lecture the vote of thanks was given by Organizing Secretary Dr. Pradnya P. Kulkarni.
